

Husky awards Hänchen as "Supplier of the year 2016"

Herbert Hänchen GmbH & Co. KG received the "Supplier of the year 2016" award by Husky Injection Molding Systems Ltd for outstanding services as a supplier.

It's more than 4,000 employees over 40 countries develop and produce machines for plastic injection moulding. In 2016, Hänchen was the only company to be awarded by the Canadians for its excellent delivery performance in just-in-time delivery and for the quality of its products, measured in ppm.

For more than 20 years, the Swabian company has supplied special cylinders manufactured in process-reliable series for machines in which, among other things, around 80 % of all PET bottle preforms are produced globally. The drives are designed for over 50 million load changes and are developed in close cooperation with the Husky engineering team. The award was received by Dirk Laubengeiger, International Sales Manager at Hänchen.
